About me

I'm a React developer with a passion for building scalable web applications and software that would simplify and make impact in a real-life scenario.

I basically learnt to code on my mobile phone and ever since then I've gained interest in the tech landscape as It's an interesting place to get involved in.

I've shown interest in volunteering for various opportunities for me to gain relevant experience while I build projects to enhance my skills further.

You'd either find me on LinkedIn or X sharing my perspectives and my tech journey :)
